OUT IN SOUTH LONDON
LGBT MAGAZINE SHOW

Queer'Say

Wednesday 18th May - 7.30pm

Ideas Store Whitechapel, 321 Whitechapel Road, London E1 1BU

A showcase of performances by acclaimed LGBT poets followed by on stage interviews about their lives and inspirations.

Conducted by award-winning broadcaster and comedian Rosie Wilby and recorded for her Resonance FM show Out In South London

'Interesting discussions on gender, politics, nudity & everything in between'
LGBTQ Arts Review

'Honest and compelling performances. The interviews give an extra dimension aided by Rosie's perceptive and amusing questions' Exeunt

Queer'Say artists for this event include Jack Rooke

Jack is a comedian, performer and campaigner from Watford. His debut show Good Grief was met with critical acclaim with two sell-out runs at Soho Theatre, a nomination for 'Best Show by an Emerging Artist' and a highlight of the Edinburgh Festival 2015.

Jack is the resident on-air expert in bereavement and mental health for BBC Radio1's 'Surgery' and hosts The Guardian Literary Institute at Camp Bestival and The Arts Amphitheatre.

Sophia Walker

Sophia has represented the UK at three World Queer Slam Championships, plus 2015 World Slam Championship and 2012 Poetry Olympics.

A former BBC Slam Champion, her debut collection, 'Opposite the Tour Bus' was shortlisted for the reader's choice section of The Guardian's First Book Award.
